'NAUGHTY LADY'
She's that "naughty Bette Davis" since a be-wigged London barrister described the American film star as "a rather naughty young lady who wants more money." The court granted Warner Brothers an injunction that restrains her from making a film for a British firm.

KING DECLINES TO GAG PAPERS

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—King Edward VIII, pressed by influential advisers to maintain more secrecy about his friendship with Mrs. Ernest Simpson, refused today to attempt to gag British newspapers desiring to report the American woman's divorce court proceedings next week.

It was understood the King's secretaries asked him whether he would send confidential messages to editors and newspapers and news agencies, requesting them to ignore or soft-pedal the Simpson divorce case when it comes up at the Ipswich assizes.

The King, however, rejected the proposal. A source close to Buckingham palace told the United Press:

"His majesty is opposed to appealing to the press to suppress news of the divorce suit when it is heard in court because it might otherwise convey the impression that his majesty is involved in Mrs. Simpson's private affairs."

The King's action was in line with his steady insistence that his friendship with Mrs. Simpson is nobody's business but his own. Despite the surge of gossip which has prompted individual members of parliament to consider making representations to him on the subject.

The seriousness with which these men regard the association is made clear by their knowledge that the King has rebuffed respectful intimations already made by the Archbishop of Canterbury, supreme head of the Church of England, and Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin.

Court Asked To Test Security Act EKINS BREAKS RECORDS

DECISION ON LAW SOUGHT BY ATTORNEY

Pleas of Power, Utility Companies on Loan Program Denied

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—The supreme court today was asked to add a test of the new Social Security act to its program for the term when Edward F. McClennen, Boston attorney, sought to intervene as a "friend of the court" in three New York state unemployment insurance law cases soon to be argued.

The court took no immediate action on McClennen's surprise move. It merely allowed him permission to file a motion asking that the court consider the federal Social Security act.

The move came without warning at the close of a meeting of the court during which it rejected pleas that it review suits involving two New Deal laws.

One of those rejected in brief orders was the attack on the Truth-in-Securities act of J. Edward Jones, New York oil participation certificate promoter. The other involved an attempt of the Alabama Power company and the Texas Utilities company, to bring their attack on the P.W.A. power loan and grant program before the tribunal at once.

McClennen rose when motions were called for and asked to be permitted to file a "friend of the court" brief on behalf of several private clients in the state of Vermont in three pending New York cases. These attack the New York law requiring contributions through an unemployment insurance fund.

Under questioning, McClennen said the state of Vermont was interested in the case because he, as a member of the law firm, Mutter, McClennen and Fish, of Boston, believed the cases would involve the federal Social Security act even though it was not directly an issue.

McClennen's brief asserted his firm had brought many suits in Massachusetts questioning whether the Social Security act and the state laws passed as part of it are constitutional under federal and state constitutions.

One case, he said, has been taken by the state supreme judicial bench and will be argued in November. By that time, he added, the New York case probably will have been disposed of by the supreme court and that decision will "pre-judge" the Massachusetts case.

The brief, which will be filed if the court grants permission, attacks the Social Security act, the ground that it attempts to tax for purposes not permitted in the constitution.

THREE MEN ESCAPE DEATH IN SEAL BEACH EXPLOSION

Three men miraculously escaped death shortly before noon today when the booster pump station for the Seal Beach Sewage disposal plant blew up. The entire building, housing about $1000 worth of equipment, was destroyed.

The men working in the plant at the time of the terrific blast were Roy Thomas, 39, William Pierson, 25, and Clarence Thompson, 39, all of Seal Beach. Thomas sustained second degree burns over his entire body, according to reports from the Long Beach Community hospital.

The men were taken for treatment. Thompson, who was blown about 50 feet into an alley adjoining the building, is suffering from severe shock, bruises and possible internal injuries. The third man was less seriously hurt.

The explosion occurred when one of the men accidentally broke an

11 Hurt In Accidents; 3 May Die

ELEVEN PERSONS, including Dr. and Mrs. Loman C. Adams, of 1403 North Flower street, who are in critical condition at Santa Ana Valley hospital, were injured in nine traffic accidents reported for the weekend on Orange county highways.

Mrs. Clinton Downing, 74, of Pasadena, injured in a traffic crash Saturday afternoon at Huntington Beach boulevard and Alhambra road, near Ocean View, when cars driven by her husband, 72, and an unknown driver who called for police assistance and then left the scene, almost collided, was in critical condition at St. Joseph hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Adams were injured about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night on 101 highway, two miles southeast of Tustin, as the car which Dr. Adams was driving, crashed into the side of a freight train. Suffering from multiple fractures and possible internal injuries, Mrs. Adams was the most seriously injured, according to reports, although Dr. Adams is not out of danger, officials said. Conductor F. H. Kelly, San Bernardino, for the Santa Fe, reported flares were posted along the highway at the crossing when the Adams car crashed into the train.

In the Downing accident, Downing and Mrs. Fannie Lawrence, 74, of Pasadena, also were injured. The Downing car overturned several times after Downing

ROOSEVELT AT OFFICE TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—President Roosevelt returned to Washington today to work on routine administrative business before setting out tomorrow night on his third campaign tour—one this through the New England states.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived this morning from Hyde Park, where he spent a restful week-end after his strenuous tour of the west and middle west during which he made nearly 60 speeches in defense of the New Deal.

His swing through New England will take him through Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut Wednesday and Thursday.

He plans to go first to Providence, R. I., where he will speak from the steps of the state capital. From Providence he will motor to Fall River and New Bedford, Mass., with a stop at Fairhaven for luncheon at the ancestral home of his mother's family, the Delanos.

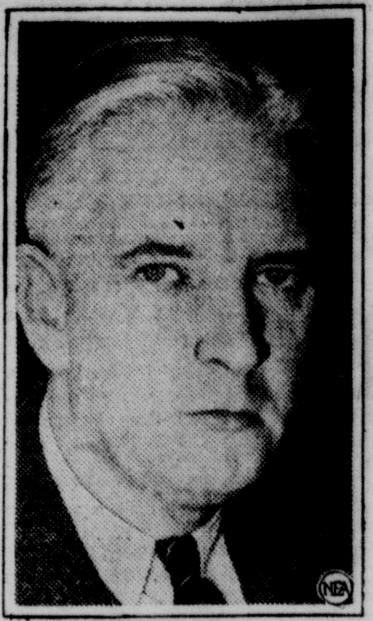

In the afternoon he will drive to Boston for another address from the state house steps. Mr. Roosevelt will then go to Worcester where at 10 o'clock Wednesday night he will deliver a radio address that will be broadcast to the nation. The next day will find him in Connecticut.

COUPLE GIVEN SENTENCE

WESTPORT, Conn., Oct. 19.—(UP)—Ethel Smith Atwell, divorced wife of the stuttering radio comedian, and her second husband, Cyril Tolley, pleaded guilty in town court today to charges of intoxication and breach of peace and were given an alternative of spending 60 days in jail or leaving town "for good." They chose the latter sentence.

WORLD RACER

H. R. Ekins, New York newspaperman, who ended a record breaking around the world trip today, defeating two rivals.

REBELS ATTACK SOUTH SECTOR

MADRID, Oct. 19.—(UP)—The rebels, moving relentlessly on Madrid, started an offensive today on the southern sector. Their advance was limited to pincer operations from Illasas toward Sesana and from Toledo toward Aranjuez, railway town south of the capital.

MADRID, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Loyalist militiamen, their backs to Madrid on the last defense line outside the city proper, steeled themselves today for a supreme effort to hold back the ferocious attack of a machine-like nationalist army.

The climax was approaching fast. Against the left front men had weakened under a terrible combination of airplane and artillery barrage and the direct attack of the insurgent Moors and foreign Legionnaires. Leftist militiamen, with double issues of cartridges, were massed in semi-circular defense order in front of the last key points before the siege of Madrid itself became a fact.

Before El Escorial, on the main highway northwest of the city, before San Martin De Valdeiglesias to the west; before Navalcarnero on the main highway to the south; before Torrejon, on the main highway to the south, the militiamen, faces drawn, realizing at last what they faced in a war that was to have been a picnic, swore to acquit themselves honorably.

4 LOSE LIVES IN FIRE ABOARD SHIP

PALERMO, Sicily, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Four Italian members of the crew of the trans-Atlantic liner Vulcania were killed during a fire which broke out in third cabin quarters early today.

Two waiters were suffocated while fighting the flames below decks in the third cabin section of the liner, which was enroute to New York.

A third man was asphyxiated while taking a shower when fumes penetrated the bath. The fourth victim was a member of the ship's orchestra, reported drowned when he became panic-stricken and fell overboard.

MOVIE COMPANY WINS STAR SUIT

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—A British court granted Warner Brothers American film producers, an injunction today that restrains Bette Davis, movie star, from making a picture for a British concern.

A third injunction will apply for three years from the present time or for the duration of her contract with Warner Brothers, whichever is shorter.

Justice Branson said that the injunction must be granted, but that it was for him to decide its length. The Warners had claimed their contract bound her until 1942.

18-DAY AIR TRIP ENDED BY REPORTER

Traveler Is Given Great Welcome in New York; Rivals Far Behind

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(UP)—H. R. Ekins, flying reporter of the New York World-Telegram and other Scripps-Howard newspapers, returned to New York today after shattering a dozen records for travel around the world. The city gave him its usual tumultuous welcome.

The reporter was nearly mobbed by an admiring throng when he left the automobile in which he had been driven from Newark airport where he arrived at 10:49, 34-5 a. m. on the TWA air liner Sky Chief on its regular scheduled flight from Union Air terminal, Burbank, Cal.

Records Broken

Officials of the National Aeronautic association announced the reporter had established these new world records:

Lakehurst, N. J., to Lakehurst—13 days, 11 hours, 14 minutes, 33 seconds; Lakehurst to Newark—18 days, 11 hours, 31 minutes, 36-5 seconds; World-Telegram building to World-Telegram building—18 days, 14 hours, 56 minutes 37 seconds.

Ekins figured he had established a dozen new records in his world flight.

He was the first person to circle the globe entirely by air over commercial air lines available to any traveler; he had broken every record for aerial circumnavigation of the world except those established by the late Wiley Post in his private speed plane traveling over the short northern route which is less than 16,000 miles.

Except for three days when he was typhoon-bound in Manila he had spent every daylight hour—and many hours of the night—aloft; except for the trans-Atlantic flight in the Hindenburg he had made the entire world circuit in American aircraft, including the light flight from Frankfurt, Germany, to Manila on the Dutch

LATE FLASHES

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 19.—(UP)—Judge Albert R. Owens of Vigo county superior court refused today to intervene to prevent arrest of Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president. Attorneys for Browder had sought a restraining order, asserting police planned to prevent the candidate making a scheduled radio address tomorrow.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—(UP)—A decree by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler was issued today, entrusting Herman Wilhelm Goering as his second in command with sweeping power to carry out a "four-year plan" for the economic rehabilitation of Germany. WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—The board of army engineers for rivers and harbors today was urged by Long Beach, Cal., representatives to dredge Alamitos bay, Cal., to a depth of 12 feet to provide an inland protected waterway for yachts and aquatic sports for the population of Long Beach and vicinity.

LOYALIST HURLS DEFIANCE

Unmindful of danger, a Spanish Loyalist militiaman leaps up from the improvised barricade where he and his comrades on the Talavera front are fighting desperately to stem the rebel advance on Madrid, and is caught by the camera as he hurls defiance at the foe in a pose reminiscent of World War memorial statues.

NEWPORT BEACH ASKS BOARD TO COMPLETE IMPROVEMENTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Representatives of Newport Beach, Cal., today urged the board of army engineers for rivers and harbors to complete development of Newport harbor to provide a "5-foot channel 200 feet wide and an anchorage-urning basin 20-feet deep just south of the main channel."

Contesting the findings of the division engineer who surveyed the project and last April issued an adverse decision on the grounds that the proposed improvement was not justifiable in the interest of navigation, the Newport Beach representatives emphasized the importance of this harbor as the only practical harbor between Los Angeles and San Diego for large freight, coast guard and navy vessels.

They estimated the proposed improvements would cost $127,000 and that the upkeep of channels, anchorage area and jetties would cost $25,000 annually.

They said local interest already had contributed $3,131,000 to the development of the harbor, of which Newport Beach city and Orange county had put up $2,479,000.

Principal spokesman for the proposed improvements was R. L. Patterson, city engineer of Newport Beach.

The board of engineers delayed decision pending a full study of all data.

REPEAL PLAN IS OUTLINED BY NOMINEE

Wants President to Deny or Accept His Son's NRA Statements

A BOARD LONDON CAMPAIGN TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO CALIFORNIA, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon, speeding west to California for a dramatic bid for that state's 22 electoral votes, challenged President Roosevelt today to say whether the New Deal plans to perpetuate the NRA.

He asked the president to accept or repudiate statements made by his son, James Roosevelt, in a recent speech at Gardner, Mass.

"This much is clear," Gov. Landon said, "that young Roosevelt understands the president still intends to make NRA principles live and operate in our government by one device or another."

Agrees With Charges

That the Republican presidential candidate said, agreed with "precisely what I have charged over and over again."

"The president must specifically deny that his son's views are his views," he said. "Otherwise, the silence of the father will be the confession that the son spoke for the president when he gave us to understand that his father intended to perpetuate the NRA."

Gov. Landon promised, if elected, to immediately "recommend to congress the repeal of all laws giving automatic power to the president."

Maximum of Liberty

"I have made it plain," he asserted, "that I stand for the maximum of individual liberty consistent with the welfare of all the people, but with no national economic planning that has the government dominating labor, industry and agriculture instead of exercising the normal governmental service of preventing unfair practices and oppressions among these activities of the people."

He referred to his own previous speeches at Portland, Me., and Detroit and reiterated that "at heart" the president longs for national planning and regiments.

22 KILLED IN ITALIAN QUAKE

VENICE, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Earthquake deaths mounted to 22 and hundreds were homeless today as four more tremors caused panic among the population of Belluna province.

No deaths were reported from the latest tremors. Most of the population of the province had moved to the hills or open fields.

The disastrous tremor occurred at 4:12 a. m. Sunday. It shook down buildings over a wide provincial area, but Venice escaped any serious damage. The famous Basilica of St. Mark showed cracks in its ancient masonry today, but no part of it fell. Scientists attributed the quake to shifting of subterranean rocks. Its point of principal intensity was the Adriatic coast.

Extensive damage was done in the Alpi area, where 120 houses were destroyed and 50 others rendered uninhabitable. Three hamlets, Cornet, Torres and Villa were razed, while Paos and Piedvalpago were damaged badly. There were numerous landslides throughout the entire area.

G. O. P. BROADCAST REQUEST REFUSED

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—(UP)—The Republican national committee today encountered stern refusal by the Columbia Broadcasting company, to permit a re-broadcast of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg's "debate" with the recorded voice of President Roosevelt.

The political speech of the Michigan Republican was cut off on several CBS stations Saturday night, Columbia explaining it was contrary to the company policy to permit broadcasting of phonographic recordings or electrical transcriptions.

The Republican national committee, which sponsored the broadcast, applied for a free half-hour to re-broadcast the program.

Edward Kleiber, Columbia executive vice president, said that "published inferences that our course is dictated by fear of the present national administration or that we are dominated by the federal communications commission are wholly unfair."

AUTO ACCESSORY EARNINGS GAIN

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Looks like Governor Landon is hoping to pick up some more speed in that Presidential Race, since Henry Ford has added his power to the Republican machine....Guess the motor magnate figures that if Alf wins, he may carry out Hoover's old slogan about "Two cars for every garage."

Naturally, I don't know if Mr. Ford is as familiar with statesmen, as he is with his own automobiles, but he still didn't tell us whether he thought Landon was another Lincoln.

Or course, the auto king's approval is expected to help some, as Henry's Model A used to be pretty popular with the farmers, but then again, so was Franklin's Triple A.

However, it's hard to tell whether Mr. Ford is really for the G.O.P. because of his political convictions, or merely because of his interest in the restoration of historical ruins.

P. S. I suppose Jim Farley has now changed his slogan to "Watch the Roosevelts go by!"

EDDIE LANE WILL OPEN NEW LUNCH ROOM ON BROADWAY

Plans for a modern fountain lunch to be opened on North Broadway were announced today by Eddie Lane who, for the past eight years has operated the fountain lunch in the McCoy drug store at Fourth and Broadway.

The store room will be entirely remodeled to accommodate a thoroughly modern kitchen in addition to a new fountain and booths for patrons. In announcing his intention to move to the new location Lane said that all employees now with him will accompany him to the new location.

Florida Turns Back Transients

MIAMI, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Florida's border patrol estimated today they would give the "bum's rush"—literally—to 50,000 persons this winter.

The first week's operations this season of the 22 men who keep watch day and night over 11 highways entering the state, have turned back several hundred who didn't have cash enough to interest Florida merchants.

FORSTER RITES HELD TUESDAY

family naturally calls to mind something of the family history. John Forster, an English boy of 17, came to Guaymas, Mex., in 1822, and a year or two later reached California. Here in 1837 he married Senorita Ysidora Pico, sister of Don Pio Pico, last of the Mexican governors, and General Andres Pico, most famous of the Californians who resisted the conquest of California by the Americans.

Bought Mission Forster bought the Mission San Juan Capistrano in 1845, and that place was the family residence until by decision of the United States Supreme court it was turned back to the Catholic church in 1865, soon after the birth of Marcellus in that year. Forster became grantee of the Rancho Trabuco, the Rancho Mission Vieja. In this county, two great ranches in San Diego, and in 1864 he secured the Rancho Santa Margarita in San Diego county, comprising 133,000 acres. Thus, with 250,000 acres, Forster became the greatest cattleman in Southern California.

Among Don Juan Forster's children was Don Marcos, father of Marcellus. He, too, became a ranchero, and one of the best known citizens of the southland. He died about 20 years ago.

Marcellus was raised on the Santa Margarita at Las Flores, San Diego county, later moving to San Juan Capistrano when the mission town became the Forster home in the 1890s.

tion and that the NRA "lives on in the spirit of the president who has let it be clearly known that he considered it would be a catastrophe if the American farmer should 'touch more' become a lord of his own farm."

The challenge was made in a formal statement issued at Los Angeles, where Governor Landon will speak Tuesday night. He is confident he can swing the state in the last-minute drive.

Seeks Pension Votes

It was believed Governor Landon may bid for the support of Dr. Francis Townsend's old age pension group which recently announced it would vote for the Republican candidate because it could not get the Union party on the state ballot.

Only one stop was planned en route to Los Angeles, at Albuquerque this afternoon for a rear platform speech. On his return Landon will stop at Phoenix before proceeding to Oklahoma City for one of his principal addresses.

Beats Zeppelin Record

He had broken by more than two days the Lakehurst-to-Lakehurst record established by the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin in 1929—21 days, seven hours, 34 minutes; he had broken by more than five days the record established in 1928 by John Henry Mears and Capt. C. B. D. Collier who used their own plane in combination with steamships to circle the world over a shorter route in 23 days, 15 hours 21 minutes, three seconds.

His competitors—Dorothy Kilgallen of the New York Journal-American, International News Service and Leo Kirean of the New York Times N.A.N.A. service—still were in Manila today but hoped to get away at dawn Tuesday for San Francisco.

Ekins defeated them by a margin of 10,000 miles and six days travel time.

WPA WORKERS TO HOLD N. Y. PARADE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(UP)—The depression-born Workers' Alliance of Unemployed Needy planned today to climax a country-wide series of anti-WPA demonstrations with a 25,000-person protest parade October 21 in New York city—the day President Roosevelt ends his campaign for re-election there.

The union, seeking a 20 per cent increase in WPA work-relief wages, will hold the New York demonstration at Columbus circle. President David Lasser said there would be "no political aspects" to the affair. The alliance has called on local chapters in 1500 cities and towns to hold mass protests and folded arms strikes starting today and continuing through Saturday to emphasize the union's WPA pay increase request.

The Rochester, N. Y., strike already is in progress, started last week. Lasser said 10,000 members would mass at the Colorado state capitol, Denver, for its demonstration next Friday.

According to word of witnesses, the fight which resulted in the death of Balderama was assertedly outgrowth of a dispute which started during the citrus pickers' strike of several months ago. Balderama was a picker during the strike. As a seditious eye-witness to and possibly involved in the fight, which occurred opposite Balderama's home, Julian Alcantar, 20, 417 North Cypress, Orange, also was arrested by Orange police and charged with being drunk. Arraignment of both Beserra and Alcantar is scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow before Judge A. W. Swayze in Orange justice court.

The district attorney today was questioning witnesses. An inquest is pending at the Shannon funeral home, Orange.

The alleged attack upon Lopez in 1929, occurred in an alley back of a house at 1029 Logan street on April 15 of that year. Lopez died in county hospital on December

TWO MEXICANS HELD HERE ON MURDER COUNT

Following arrest of two Mexican men, one in Richmond, California, and one in Orange, the latter after a street brawl in Orange Saturday night which resulted in the death of Paul Balderama, 24, of 413 North Cypress, Orange, two murder complaints were issued today by District Attorney William Menton.

Felberto Beserra, 33, 495 North Cypress, Orange, was blamed, according to the complaint, for the death of Balderama who died from knife wounds as he was about to be rushed to county hospital.

Jesus Esquivel, 41, alias Jesse Martinez and Jesus Garcia, former resident of 1029 Logan street, Santa Ana, who was arrested last week at Richmond on a charge of operating an illegal still, will be brought here soon for prosecution by Santa Ana officials on a complaint charging he murdered Salvador Lopez, 1031 Logan street, in 1929. Police Chief Floyd W. Howland this morning sent word to Sheriff John Miller of Contra Costa county, asking him to place a hold order on Esquivel. Esquivel was identified through comparison of fingerprint records.

Orange county Democrats gathered at Irvine Park Saturday for the barbecue sponsored by the Santa Ana campaign committee. Luncheon was served from 1 to 3 p. m. with entertainment being offered during the dinner period.

Pearson Hall, United States attorney in Los Angeles was the principal speaker after the luncheon and gave a dynamic talk defending the New Deal and President Roosevelt. Following the meeting he announced that he is leaving tomorrow for his home state, Pennsylvania, for a speaking tour on behalf of Roosevelt.

Democratic candidates for office at the coming election were present and spoke briefly. The high point of the portion of the program devoted to other Democratic candidates was the introduction of Harry Sheppard, candidate for congress, by County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson. Adkinson was defeated by Sheppard for the party nomination at the primaries and has thrown his support to the party candidate.

3, 1929. Esquivel has been sought since. Esquivel had a police record prior to the alleged attack upon Lopez when Lopez was shot, according to Officer Charles Wolford. His fingerprint record was taken here when he was arrested for illegal sale of liquor.

When the case against Esquivel is settled in Richmond, he will be brought here for prosecution on the murder charge.

BEN TARVER TO DEBATE SINGLE TAX AT FORUM

Judge Ben E. Tarver, staunch supporter of the single tax plan, will speak on the affirmative of the debate subject, "Resolved, That the Government Should raise its income by a Single Tax as Advocated by Henry George" at the Forum for Political and Economic Education tomorrow evening in the Santa Ana Junior College building, 317 North Main street, W. H. (Tony) Blanding, arrangements committee chairman, announced today.

The negative speaker, not yet chosen, will present his side of the argument the following Tuesday night at the same place. The whole of tomorrow evening will be given over to Judge Tarver's talk and to discussion by Forum guests.

"Owing to the importance of this question, and its magnitude, we have decided to devote an evening to each side of it," Blanding declared. "Judge Tarver is well posted on the single tax question and should present an interesting talk. Although the single tax question is not on the ballot this year, it has been before the people of California several times and is still a live question for discussion. With the question of taxes becoming a greater problem, the single tax question grows in importance too."

Six Reasons Why Roosevelt Vitally Needed-Gov. Cox

Ex-Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio was the Democratic candidate for President in 1920. He is a keen student of political affairs and a Democrat of unbending loyalty to the great principles of popular government.

Gov. Cox delivered a radio address which was one of the landmarks of the present campaign. He asked this question: "What in all probability would come from Mr. Roosevelt's defeat?" His answer follows in part:

"First and foremost—mass discontent. The New York Times phrases this well when it says:

"It would be blind not to appreciate at full value and to wish to conserve for the uncertain days which lie ahead, the unquestioned confidence which Mr. Roosevelt enjoys among the distressed masses who have been the worst victims of the depression."

"Second—With a Republican President and a Democratic Senate (which cannot be reversed by this election) we would have a Government divided against itself in emergency times.

"Third—We would be committing ourselves to tariff policies pregnant with the germs of new depressions. They almost destroyed us before. They drove other nations to defensive measures fatal to our own and the world's recovery. Economically, the affairs of the wide planet are clearing up. The day of stability in world currencies is in sight. With this is coming the breaking down of trade barriers. It would be useless to provide through fiscal rearrangements the facilities of trade if we walled ourselves in and refused to trade.

"When Secretary of State Hull, with a patience and faith that have been rewarded, undertook to establish reciprocity agreements, he found thirty-five nations hating us with a hate which only American exporters knew. He found little encouragement. He provoked the amusement rather than the interest of other lands. In their view the villain of the play was appearing, self-robed as the hero. Having helped to wreck the world, he was now proposing to save it. History will accord Mr. Hull a high place for accomplishing in the face of these conditions a seemingly impossible task.

SOCIAL SECURITY MENACED

"Fourth—the Republican candidate would turn social security over to the States. This is a favorite tory barrier to all progress. The assessment on industry for social security must be national and uniform. Otherwise, we would have unfair competition among the States. Some things vital to the general welfare cannot be left to the States. The child labor situation is proof of that. The difficulty is that this is a matter of our intensified industrial life; something the Republican candidate has not officially encountered in his public service.

"Fifth—We would have a leaderless Government. The Republican party and candidate, attacking President Roosevelt for his leadership, commit themselves to a President who will make no effort to lead, but will make his recommendations, and stop with that. The very strength and efficiency of American democracy lies in that function of the President which welds into orderly effectiveness a ruling majority. It is by that America has escaped the chaos of divided counsel which has led other less happily organized republics upon the rocks of dictatorship.

FOREIGN POLICY

"Sixth—We would be substituting an inexperienced for a highly skilled and successful hand at the controls of our foreign policy. From no competent source, partisan or otherwise, has there been criticism of the President's course. He has rebuilt our prestige in the South and Central American States. His diplomacy, marked at times with the firm world when it was essential to our national honor, has enriched the traditions of the republic. We know the highly sensitive state of the international world. It would be a departure from common prudence to change."

FRANCE MAY DEDICATE CHAPEL TO JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR.

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(UP)—The French government is considering presenting a 15th Century Gothic chapel to John D. Rockefeller Jr., as a gesture of gratitude for his donations to France for the restoration of the Chateau de Versailles, the Courrousel Arch in the Tuilleries Gardens and other monuments in Paris.

The historic chapel in question is situated in the village of Chauvirey-le-Châtel. It was built in 1484 under Charles the Bold to shelter a hunting horn which is believed to have belonged to Saint Hubert. The horn is now a part of the famous Wallace Collection in London.

Before the Chapel of Saint Hubert can be presented to Rockefeller to be re-created in the Metropolitan Museum in New York, it will be necessary to pass a law permitting the chapel to be removed from French soil. A bill to this effect has been drafted and will be presented to the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate before the summer closing of Parliament.

Another difficulty to be surmounted is the resentment of the local citizens of Chauvirey-le-Châtel, who want to keep their 15th Century chapel in its natural surroundings. The citizens argue that their region of France—the Haute Saône department—is not rich in historical monuments, and that they should not be robbed of their treasure. They are grateful to Rockefeller's generosity, but feel that the French government might offer a chapel from another region to the United States.

The 500-year-old chapel was classed as a public monument in 1925 after it had been bought by a Paris antique dealer, who

"Vote For F. D. R. Costs You $13," Boy Tells Girl

(Overheard in a restaurant)

Boy Friend—So you're voting for Roosevelt?

Girl Friend—Yeah.

Boy Friend—It'll cost you $13.

Girl Friend—Yeah?

Boy Friend—Yeah.

Girl Friend—What do you mean, "Yeah"?

Boy Friend—Here's what I mean.

You get $25 a week. That's plenty more than most girls get. Well, Roosevelt's new "Security" law goes into effect next January. You'll pay 1 per cent. of your salary into that fund. That's 25 cents a week—$13 a year—out of what you earn.

Girl Friend—Yeah?

Boy Friend—Yeah. And here's something. How many pairs of stockings can you get for $13? Two dozen?

Girl Friend—Not me, but it can be done. It takes SOME shopping.

Boy Friend—And what do they cost you? $13 a year?

Girl Friend—MORE. Depends on how much I splurge.

Boy Friend—Well, kid, even if you don't splurge, you're out a couple of dozen pair of stockings when you vote for Roosevelt.

Girl Friend—But don't I get "security" sometime.

Boy Friend—No. That's another pipe dream. If this Roosevelt law would work, I'd be for it myself. I'm voting for Landon, because his "security" plan WILL work. And not soak you and me to death before we're old enough to get "security" out of it.

Girl Friend—Well, I never knew that before.

Boy Friend—No, and a lot of other people don't.

Girl Friend—Yeah, that's so.

Boy Friend—Yeah.

Stockings run into money.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Miss Mae Knudson, 41st St., Brooklyn, accounting: "We should have a change of party in power, because the New Deal is spending too much money. The cost of living has gone up, but wages haven't. I think we can expect better things from Mr. Landon. I certainly intend to vote for him for President."

Ethel G. Armstrong, East 78th St., New York, department manager: "This spending must stop, and Landon is the man who can taper it off. Roosevelt is leading America to ruin. He seems to have a genius for doing absurd things. There is hardly a day when I am not reminded of the way the cost of living is going up, and what return do we get for it?"

Mrs. Mabel Martin, East 42nd St., New York, home: "I'm going to vote for Governor Landon because I believe in his principles and in his integrity. I think, above all, that he is sincere in what he says. I believe he will help the farmer and the unemployed, and the unemployed, and he is certainly a better bet than the man we have in the White House now."

than the man we have in the White House now.

LANDON PLEDGES REAL SECURITY

Here is what Gov. Landon says on social security. "Always, in prosperity and depression, there is the ever present dread of a PENNILESS OLD AGE.

"We propose . . . to provide for every American citizen over 65 the supplementary payment necessary to give a minimum income SUFFICIENT TO PROTECT HIM OR HER FROM WANT.

"My criticism of the present Act is NOT that its purpose is bad. It is that this Act will involve CRUEL DISAPPOINTMENT for those of our people least able to bear the shock of disappointment.

"If we will put the plan on a sound financial basis, we can afford to be LIBERAL TO OUR OLD PEOPLE.

"To these—our old people, our workers struggling for better conditions, our infirm—I WILL NOT PROMISE THE MOON. I promise only what I KNOW CAN BE PERFORMED!"

wanted to ship it to the United States.

One of the directors of the Beaux Arts school explained that the French government repeatedly had made formal promises to transfer the chapel to the United States, but is loath to give up such a valuable historic treasure. It is proposed that the bill be passed by Parliament will authorize the shipment of the chapel to the New York museum, but stipulate that the chapel remains a French possession on American soil.

Austria Saddles One of Her Untamed War Horses

Proof that modern war tanks can hurdle almost any obstacle is plain in this striking photo of an Austrian tank high in the air as it goes over a barrier at full speed. But what happens when this iron and steel war juggernaut hits the ground again must be left to the imagination—or to the pilots and gunners inside. The picture was made at army maneuvers recently near Bruck, Austria.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

WAR WEATHERVANE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Belgium's move to slide out of her military alliance with France was more than an idle straw in the European diplomatic whirlwind. It was another turn of the war weathervane more definitely toward retirement. In fact, Mr. Jones, FRB Governor Eccles and FDIC Chairman Crowley are understood to have worked inside for some such liberalization of the bill in congress against the treasury last session. But the treasury prevailed.

Modifications of the law next session, if any, will be in the hands of the treasury. The question is whether President Roosevelt will side with the Morgenthau-Oliphant group of advisers, as he has so far, or whether he will come around to the viewpoint of Messrs. Crowley, Eccles and Jones, whose advice was not followed in the past year.

World diplomats are not giving public interpretations, but they know the reason behind it. They all inwardly accept France as practically communistic, from an international diplomatic standpoint. They see not only the Franco-Russian alliance, but the balance of power wielded by Communists in the French chamber of deputies.

The Belgians also saw that and wanted no part of it. Realistically, they saw, further, that the danger of war in Europe now is between Germany and Russia. They did not want to be drawn into it indirectly by their old historic alliance with France.

DIVISION

It does not mean war, but it does mean the decline of France as a world power unless she can extricate herself. It spoils the last pretense of the old French foreign policy of security. It would leave her, only Russia as a certain ally, surrounded by Fascist Germany, Italy and Spain, with such constitutional monarchies as England and Belgium drawing away from her.

French statesmen will undoubtedly do all they can to keep the Belgian king's assertion of neutrality from being carried out fully. They may succeed sufficiently to muddle the situation, but they cannot turn the wind which is definitely against them.

PRESSURE

Low-salaried employees in more than one government office are beginning to wish that those Du Ponts would give some money to the Democratic campaign. The burden is getting just a little heavy.

They did not mind when they were invited to take $10 seats at the Jackson day dinner and even later when they were similarly "invited" to buy a convention year book for $5. But a few days ago along came an invitation to contribute 2 per cent of their salaries to state campaign committees, which are not under the same rigid restrictions against receiving federal donations as is the national committee. This meant a $20 contribution for each $1,000 of annual salary, and, in some cases, it hurt.

The solicitation in one office, however, was about 100 per cent perfect.

TAXES

Suggestion by RFC chairman Jones that the corporation tax law would be modified next session was not accepted here as official. Mr. Jones has always thought the law was wrong. He wants deductions for plant expansion and debt retirement. In fact, Mr. Jones, FRB Governor Eccles and FDIC Chairman Crowley are understood to have worked inside for some such liberalization of the bill in congress against the treasury last session. But the treasury prevailed.

Modifications of the law next session, if any, will be in the hands of the treasury. The question is whether President Roosevelt will side with the Morgenthau-Oliphant group of advisers, as he has so far, or whether he will come around to the viewpoint of Messrs. Crowley, Eccles and Jones, whose advice was not followed in the past year.

IMAGININGS

There are at least two cabinet rumors for every cabinet officer, except Wallace and Hull. Imaginary flights of gossip have conjured the following possibilities if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected: General Johnson for the temporarily filled war department chair; Mayor LaGuardia for labor; Senator Couzens for commerce, and also, with Joseph Kennedy and Governor Lehman, for treasury; Governor McNutt for war, Donald Richberg for attorney general; also Johnson or Richberg for Harry Hopkins.

The ideas are pure speculation, partly for campaign stimulation purposes, but some of the suggestions are believed to have been talked officially. LaGuardia, Couzens and McNutt are the best bets.

TRIPLE LINE OF DEFENSES SLATED

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Belgium soon will announce a triple line of defenses to halt any German invasion, and France will extend its formidable Maginot line of defense all the way to the sea. It was said in authoritative quarters today.

Belgium's new policy is expected to be disclosed in a debate on national defense in the Belgian parliament next week. This debate, it was said in Brussels, will clear up any misunderstanding regarding King Albert's statement about neutrality and will bring the announcement of the following defense lines:

1. A chain of concrete shelters all along the eastern frontier.
2. As in 1914, a fortified line along the Meuse river.
3. A defense line running from Liege and parallel to the Netherlands frontier as far as Antwerp on the sea.

and an aged itinerant to death, then changed his story.

The four dead men were Manuel Arruscada, North Fork livestock dealer; Otto Heitman, 42, Douglas county commissioner and Carson valley stock owner; Walter Goedecke, 27, Carson valley rancher, and a fourth man whose identity authorities were unable to determine.

Police News

Charge of petty theft, involving issuance of a $5 check to William Beasley, 1807 Spurgeon, was dismissed today after C. N. Sifton, 22, 938 West Camille, defendant, was found not guilty by Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court. Sifton declared he had post-dated the check and had not expected Beasley to try to cash it when he did.

Norman Lemon, 709 West First, had four stitches taken into his face at Orange county hospital yesterday following what he reported was a fight.

Louis Leos, 23, Anaheim Mexican charged with indecent exposure after two Anaheim high school girls accused him of accosting them as they walked between school and home, was sent to jail for 30 days when he appeared before Judge Charles Kuchel in Anaheim court. Leos was arrested by California Highway Officer George Peterkin who traced him through the license number of an automobile he was driving.

Residents of 950 Newport road, Tustin, informed sheriff's officers this morning they are detaining a pair of stray mules, found wandering near the place.

Vern Waters, 120 East Alberta, Anaheim, informed sheriff's officers that three Mexicans who picked him up while he was hitch-hiking home from a dance along 101 highway late Saturday night, beat him up, apparently in an attempt to rob him. Officers were searching for the trio today. Waters, who obtained medical treatment for his wounds, said he had but $1 when the men attacked him; the money was gone when the men threw him out and drove away. Waters could not say whether the men robbed him of the $1 or whether it was "lost in the shuffle."

Eddie Pena of Westminster complained to sheriff's officers Saturday night that Frank Flores used a four-inch knife to chase him around the streets of Westminster. When officers appeared on the scene to take Flores in on a charge of being drunk, they found the knife in Flores' shoe. Flores claimed the knife was not his.

Three bicycles were reported stolen during the week end from Fourth and Birch streets while their owners were attending the State theater. Fernando Raya, 926 East Pine, and Gilbert Osborn, 1219 East Second, both lost "World" bicycles, black, cream and silver in color, and valued at approximately $45 each. Pedro Lopez, 1018 Logan street, lost a blue and white second-hand bicycle, he told city police.

TAX DELINQUENCY RECORD IN COUNTY IS UNUSUALLY LOW

Only six counties in the first 25 counties of the state reduced their tax delinquencies to a greater extent than Orange county, during the past year, according to statistics issued today by County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb.

Orange county's tax delinquency for 1935-36 was 40 1-2 per cent lower than the preceding year, 1934-35, Lamb showed, the preceding delinquency of 9.33 per cent being reduced to 5.55 per cent last year.

Fresno county had the greatest percentage decrease, 54 1-3; Santa Cruz county was second with 47 per cent, Alameda county reduced 45.9 per cent, Riverside county dropped 44 1-2 per cent, Solano county 43 1-2 per cent, Tulare 41 1-2 per cent, with Orange county next.

Among the 25 counties reported, Orange county ranked 13 in low percentage of delinquency, 5.55 per cent, being outranked by Alameda, Contra Costa, Fresno, Kern, Monterey, San Francisco, San Joaquin, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Solano and Sonoma.

San Francisco county had the lowest percentage, 2.05; Kern county was second with 2.33, Fresno county third with 2.6.

ANAHEIM DEALERS PLAN FREE PARKING IN DOWN TOWN AREA

ANAHEIM, Oct. 17.—Merchants west of Lemon street, are working out a plan to provide free automobile parking space for their customers. The program was devised by George Reid, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and has been approved by 18 of the 20 merchants on the street.

It is planned to rent two lots on Clementine street, between Oak and Chestnut, owned by Mrs. Elsa G. Rust of Pasadena. There are two houses on the lots which, if the project is completed, would be removed.

Under the plan outlined by Reid each of the merchants would pay a share of the cost of securing the lots and for their maintenance. Mrs. Rust has indicated that she would consider an offer of funds sufficient to meet taxes and assessments against the property.

Great Britain exceeds the United States in imports, but not in exports. Great Britain ranks first in value of exports and imports combined, with the United States second.

19 DIE AS SHIP SINKS IN STORM

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 19.—The bodies of 18 men and a woman, all in life preservers, bobbed in the choppy waters of Lake Erie today, victims of a gale that sank the Canadian sand ship, Sand Merchant. Seven men survived.

The survivors, who saved themselves by clinging to life boats for 11 hours Saturday night and Sunday morning, were recovering from exposure. Inquiry in the cause of the disaster will be undertaken here and probably in Canada.

The Sand Merchant was capsized by mountainous waves at 10 p. m. Saturday, 17 miles northwest of Cleveland in approximately 60 feet of water.

Captain Graham MacLeland was picked up with two of his crew three miles northwest of the Cleveland harbor by the freighter Thunder Bay Quarries. They were landed at Sandusky, O. Four other sailors were hauled aboard the Marquette & Bessemer No. 1 and returned to Cleveland.

HAWKS HOPES TO SET NEW RECORD

EAST HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 19.—(UP)—A new airplane in which Frank Hawks hopes to establish a world's land speed record of close to 400 miles an hour was gone over by mechanics today after its first test flight.

Hawks brought the snow-white ship here from Springfield, Mass., yesterday. While newsworld cameramen ground away, Mrs. Hawks christened the low-wing monoplane "Time Files."

The attempt to establish a record will be made at the local field, Hawks said. The present speed record of slightly more than 352 miles an hour is held by Howard Hughes.

Hawks said the new plane will cruise at about 340 miles an hour and the motor is capable of developing 1150 horsepower. The fuselage is 22 feet long, and the wing spread is 31 feet.

INSURANCE PLAN OPPOSED BY WEBB

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—(UP)—State's Attorney General U. S. Webb today entered an unexpected protest of the $12,000,000 offer of the Giannini interests to take over the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company of California.

Representing State Insurance Commissioner Samuel L. Carpenter, Webb appeared before Superior Judge Henry M. Willis and expressed opposition to the offer.

Webb said he was basing his opposition to the Giannini plan on the state insurance code which, he said, specifies that the state insurance commissioner, once he is appointed conservator, should present a rehabilitation plan. If that plan fails, the commissioner should seek a buyer and failing here, he would then have to liquidate the company's assets, the attorney general explained.

$3120 LOST TO CONFIDENCE MAN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 19.—(UP)—A. A. Solimine, San Diego liquor dealer, today bemoaned the loss of $3120 while police searched for a man who assertedly told Solimine he was a betting commissioner and could "fix" horse races at Tanforan.

Solimine told police he took the money in an envelope to the alleged betting commissioner's hotel room where an agent was to receive it and place it on a "sure thing."

When the agent failed to appear after 40 minutes, Solimine said his friend left the room to telephone and failed to return.

After an hour, Solimine said he looked inside the envelope. He found newspaper clippings had been substituted for the money.

SALUTE TO Love

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATE and CAROLINE MEED live on a Blue Grass farm with their grandfather, MAJOR SAM MEED, and two old Negro servants, ATRIE and ZEKKE. Kate is engaged to handsome MORGAN PRENTISS, who neglects her for EVE ELWELL, beautiful and wealthy.

Major Meed, addicted to drink, mortgages his home and its furnishings and the mortgage is foreclosed by JEFF HOWARD, clever young mountaineer, who decides to settle among the Blue Grass families whom he hates.

While the Meeds are packing to move into a dilapidated tenant house, Jeff arrives to inspect his property. Kate treats him rudely and he responds with insolence. The day for the Meeds to move arrives.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI

AFTER Kate and Caroline had finished painting the woodwork while there was a little paint left in one of the cans. Kate's brush was still temptingly wet. She said to Caroline, with an innocent look, "I must put Granddad's name on the mailbox. There's a law about it."

"Do it neatly," Caroline warned. "The box sits right beside the front gate, you know."

Kate nodded and went out to the picket fence. With a corner of her brush she painted SAM MEED on the box in even, blocked letters. But beneath it she painted RICKETY HOUSE in letters twice as large and very straggling.

When Caroline came back and saw it she frowned and burst into laughter. She called her grandfather to see. He laughed, too.

The little joke caught on in town. Some of the younger set, sensing the fact that humor was the only tolerable approach to the Meeds' new position, directed mail to them with that address attached. There came a dance invitation to the Meed girls of Rickety House before a week had passed. It was from Cynthia Chensault who would be a senior at Wellesley the following year. The card was engraved, but there was an informal note accompanying it. Kate read it aloud:

"Dear Country Jakes! You will spend the night at my house, of course. Come before dark. We'll have a tray dinner up in the library because the downstairs will be ready for the crush. I've two men coming for every girl, can you bear it? And a little orchestra you've heard over the radio. Louisville papers please copy. Don't worry about—"

KATE paused and scrutinized the paper. She said to Caroline with a sharp little frown between her eyes, "Cynthia's rubbed out something and written over it. At first she wrote 'don't worry about new dresses,' but she's rubbed out the last two words and written 'anything.' Well, she needn't give any thought to our clothes! We generally look all right, don't we?"

"Exactly," Caroline said, continuing to manicure her nails. "Finish reading the note, please."

Kate resumed. "Don't worry about anything. Just come. Affectionately, Cynthia."

"Good old Cyn!" Caroline said. Cynthia was her own age, yet she had never seemed to belong to any particular set. The whole town, the entire state claimed her. She was a tall, smart-looking brunette in whom a distant French strain was still visible. She had good nature and plenty of money to fortify her. Though not pretty, she had her share of male attention, local and otherwise. Her June party was always an event.

The Major was pathetically pleased to learn that the girls were to go to "a big party" together. When the day arrived, he had Zeke polish the sedan in preparation for the trip to town.

"WELL fixed for clothes, are you?" asked the old man anxiously. The wistful hopefulness in his voice touched both girls unspeakably. Caroline busied herself with her gloves. Kate with the starting of the engine. They could not look at him or at each other, for the tears that came into their throats.

"Plenty!" they assured him together. "I have my new dress, you know," Kate reminded him gaily, "and Caroline's was new last year. We'll be elegant!" No need to tell him that their satin slips were falling to pieces from many washings, or that four slender feet would dance stockingly through grim necessity.

They kissed him and drove away and he went into the house in a mellow mood, proud of the two pretty girls who were his orphaned granddaughters. Kate, he reflected, was a trifle reckless, and Cline was a little too shy and retiring. But, take them all in all, they were a mighty fine, sweet pair. He would just drink a julep on it. No, drat it! A julep meant ice, and that mountaineer had his electric refrigerator.

The old gentleman decided to substitute a nap for the drink (a flair for compromise being both the blessing and the curse of his cheerful, indolent nature). He lay back in a chair, spread a clean handkerchief over his face, and fell to dreaming of the time when the Meeds were Somebody. As he breathed, the handkerchief rose and fell, rose and fell. . . . He dreamed that someone was pouring tea from a handsome silver pot that stood on a great silver tray. The gentleman beside him who had just been served was General LaFayette, an amiable person, to be sure. . . . "Thank you, General LaFayette," he was saying to him, "for admiring our silver service. It came from England, not from Sheffield. Sterling, sir. . . . Yes, General, when the Civil War comes on we'll take care to bury it. The Yankees would melt it down in a hurry. . . . And then General LaFayette changed into a blue-coated Union captain and 40 years had passed like the flit of a bird's wing. The Union captain was about to drop the silver service, tray, pot and all, into a glowing cauldron.

THE dreamer cried out in loud protest, and suddenly Zeke was shaking his shoulder and saying urgently, "Wake up, Major Sam! You's havin' dot night-mares! Wake up an' eat yoah supper!"

Major Sam Meed came awake and looked at the old colored man. "Zeke," he said, "I've been dreaming about the Meed silver. That stuff my mother had buried during the Civil War. I wonder what ever happened to it?"

Zeke answered in a puzzled voice, "Lawd a-mercy, Major Sam! I ain't thought of dot stuff since I was a boy. Ole Miss used to set me diggin' for it, but we cou'd never find it. It's done rot in de groun', I reckon."

"Silver doesn't rot," Major Meed said. "Well, it's gone now. So's everything. Don't ever mention it to the girls, Zeke. They'd take it right hard if it was called to their minds. Especially Miss Kate. She's high-strung. She'd take it right hard to lose a silver service that'd poured tea for General LaFayette."

"Yessuh, Major Sam. What's buried's buried. Ain't no use stirrin' up de young critters 'bout dot silver. Dey's stirred up enuff as tis."

The "young critters," meanwhile, were parking their car in the rear of the Chensault place and slipping in at the back entrance. They knew the house and the servants, so they were permitted to go up the back stairs to the room reserved for them. Something prematurely festive about the place had made them take these precautions.

Kate opened the bags and hung up their evening dresses while Caroline arranged their toilet articles on the dressing table. Kate cocked her ears to listen. "Caroline," she said, "as sure as you're living, Cynthia's got a house party here. It sounds like a bee-hive out there!"

Caroline replied bravely, "Well, I'm not afraid. These percales look exactly like printed linens—"

INSECTS ARE THE ONLY CREATURES THAT POSSESS TRUE WINGS.

THERE is nothing else in nature like the wings of an insect. The wings of a bird, or of a bat, are merely made-over fore legs, flying fishes glide along on their fins, and flying squirrels glide by means of skin stretched between the fore and hind legs, but insects have wings originally made for the purpose of flying.

CCC WORKERS WEAR RED TO WARN HUNTERS

CCC enrollees in the Santa Ana area have been ordered to wear red bands on their hats, carry noise makers to work projects, and erect red warning signs as a means of protection against accidental potshots from overzealous hunters this fall.

In addition, Robert E. Fechner, director of the CCC, has requested the cooperation of the California state game commission in a campaign to make hunters extremely careful when in the vicinity of CCC camps. This is part of an effort to decrease accidents in the CCC. In the past, it was pointed out, the whine of bullets through the woods has caused entire CCC work crews to jump into holes they were digging or hide behind trees.

The lineup of CCC camps for the Santa Ana area, as approved for the period ending March 31, 1937, is as follows: El Toro camp working on a soil conservation service project in Orange county; San Clemente camp working in the San Clemente State park in Orange county.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17.—I like the clinging-togetherness of the Stones, Fred, Dorothy, Paula, and Carole are the happiest big family I know and from outward appearances Dorothy's husband, Charles Collins, is a welcome addition. They are original founders of the mutual admiration society; prime users of the motto "One for all and all for one." The moment one of the clan "strikes oil" he calls on the others to sink wells. First it was the stage; under the wing of Papa Stone all the little pebbles flocked to the footlights. Then Fred turned Westward and made good in the movies. Already Paula and Collins have followed, and it is but a question of time before Hollywood will be living in a new Stone Age. The same help-one-another spirit has extended to radio; a job for one means a job for two, three or all. The late Will Rogers and his family, and Billie Burke Ziegfeld and her daughter Patricia are practically members of this same big clan. All stand with hands outstretched to help each other. Now that Will Rogers, Jr., has purchased a small newspaper in Beverly Hills, Patricia is a member of his staff, and Fred Stone occasionally writes features for "Editor Will." And despite reports that young Roger's heart is riveted to that of a Pasadena society girl, I will not be surprised to see his budding friendship for Patricia ripen into love. The whole lot of them—Stones, Rogers and Ziegfelds—seems more like small-town citizens than movie and stage people.

Published lists of movie salaries as released by tax officials failed to reveal that one full-fledged star until recently received only $75 a week. I refer to Jean Parker. Not long ago she was presented a new contract, but for two years previous she earned a pay check less munificent than many studio secretaries receive. Jean was serving under her original pact which started at $40 a week. Studios customarily replace such agreements with better ones, once a player has made good, but in Miss Parker's case the powers-that-be were "spanking her" for permitting her heart to rule her brain. In plainer language she was in love and the studio did not approve. All has been adjusted now.

Jean is married, and the studio heads have sighed and forgiven. But while she was in bad favor, there often occurred the situation of the star of a picture (Jean) receiving less salary than every other member of her cast.

Katherine De Mille and Gary Cooper were talking about the many traditions that surround her father, Cecil B. "How about that story that Mr. De Mille uses bath tubs in every picture he makes?" demanded Gary. "It's crazy," Katherine said. "My father uses bath tubs less than half the directors in pictures." Jack Oakie, passing at the moment, paused to murmur, "He must smell elegant!"

FIRE DESTROYS CARS

LA HABRA, Oct. 19.—Two cars and a double garage were destroyed by fire shortly before midnight Saturday. The garages were in the rear of the E. W. Launders home on South College street. It is reported that a probable short circuit in one of the cars which had just been put into the garage might be a probable cause of the blaze. The local fire department did not learn the names of the car owners.

Blind Poetess is Heard at Meeting

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 19.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Laguna Beach Woman's club this weekend, Dorothy Brown, blind poetess of San Pedro, was guest speaker.

Miss Brown has been blind since three years of age; but, in addition to making outstanding contributions to contemporary poetry, she does her own housework, cooking and other daily tasks with the facility of those gifted with sight. The guest read several of her poems, and demonstrated the use of Braille type on her typewriter, specially key-boarded and constructed. Following her talk, she was tendered an ovation by the many members and guests present. Under direction of Mrs. Malinda Woodworth, current events were discussed, and tea and refreshments served.

TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION TO BROADCAST

The Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, Ltd., 112 West Fifth, Santa Ana, will begin its third week of radio broadcasts at 12:05 noon, October 20, 1936.

Radio station KVOB donates time for these broadcasts and this week the Anaheim Toastmasters will give the talks, all cooperating to one purpose; namely, to control and to eventually stamp out this dreaded disease.

The first four talks will tell how tuberculosis affects the different age groups. Here is the list as they will appear: Tuesday, October 20, Dr. Pat Patterson, "Tuberculosis vs. Children;" Wednesday, October 21, Arthur Porter, "Tuberculosis Among High School Students;" Thursday, October 22, Dr. A. H. Wajahn, "Tuberculosis Mortality Among Young Women;" Friday, October 23, Bob Rundstrom, "To the Ancient and Honorable."

The speaker for Saturday will be announced later in the week but the title will be "Tuberculosis vs. Sanatorium and Location."

It is hoped that every merchant and housewife who has a radio available to the public or to more than one person will turn on these talks at noon, in the hopes that they may reach the ears of attentive listeners, people who can benefit by the advice and information given in this manner.

Vote Against Higher Prices for Food and Other Necessities!

Vote "NO" on Proposition #22—a scheme to raise the cost of living by taxation

DO you think prices are high enough now? Then watch where you put your stamp on Proposition 22, called a "Retail Store License" on the November ballot.

It requires individual stores to pay $1.00 a year for the right to do business. But it taxes chain stores $500.00 for each store over nine.

Groups sponsoring the measure freely call it a "weapon"—a weapon to cripple the chain store by forcing it to raise its prices.

But you are the one who is hit by high prices. As the U.S. Federal Trade Commission says:

"If the ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency or on elimination of credit and delivery cost, is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax and not the chain."

Chain stores operate on a small profit. They eliminate middlemen's profits and unnecessary in-between expenses.

The savings they make by operating efficiently are passed on to you in prices 10% below the average. These are the figures of the Harvard (University) Bureau of Business Research, from a study of 32,998 chain stores.

Four out of five chain stores do not make enough profit to cover the tax. It can only be paid by higher prices—by money out of your pocket.

Some chains will go out of business. Thus their competitors will be able to raise prices even higher.

If you think that chain store rivalry helps to keep all prices in line with your pocketbook—if you think that TAXES ARE HIGH ENOUGH NOW, especially on FOODS, vote NO and keep prices low.

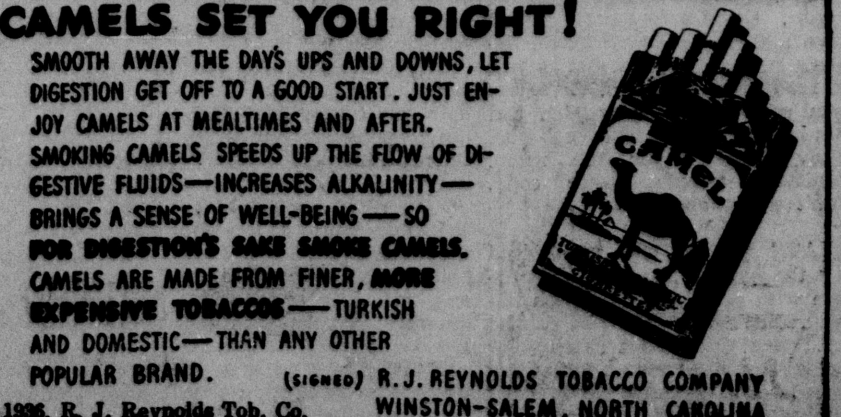

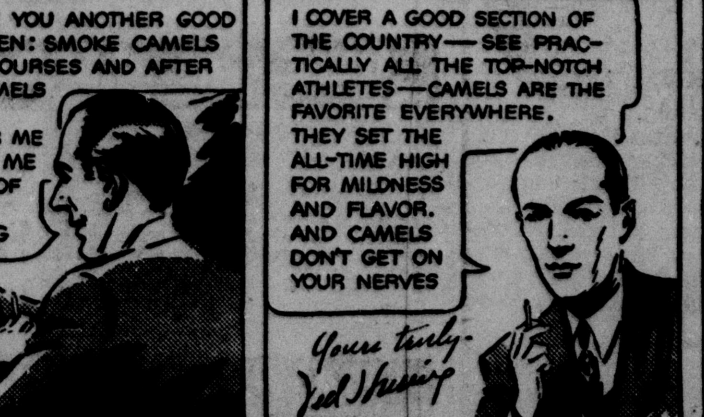

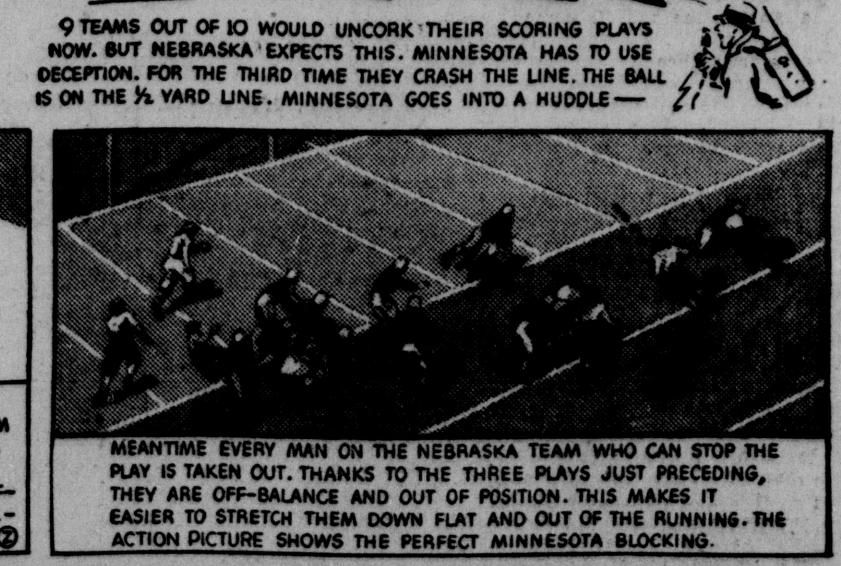

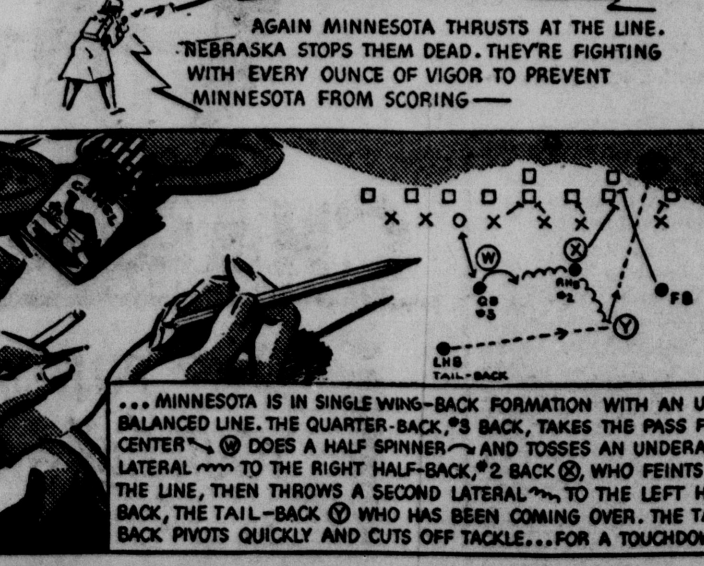

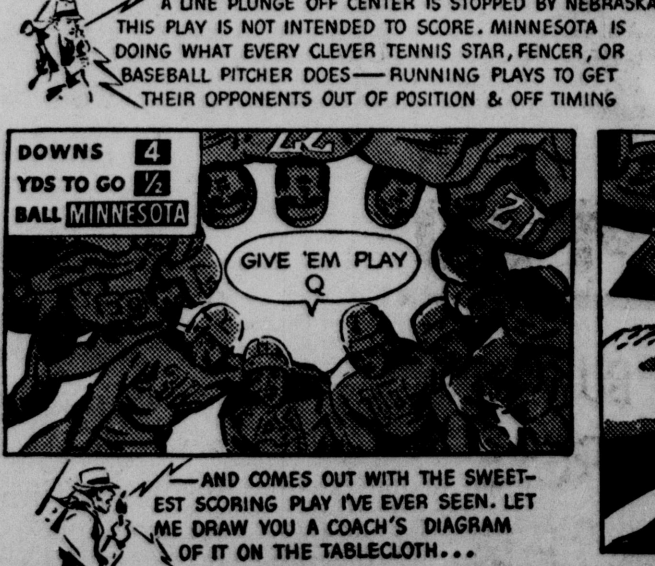

For remember, this tax is admittedly not a tax for revenue purposes. It is a cleverly camouflaged subsidy for wasteful business methods—and you will pay the bill.

No matter what its title...no matter how heavily disguised...22 is a tax on you—VOTE NO!

22 IS A TAX ON YOU—VOTE NO!

Junior College Students Urge Safety Measure

SIGNALS AT TENTH, MAIN REQUESTED

Faculty members and students at Santa Ana Junior college today were asked to sign petitions favoring the installation of signals at Tenth and Main streets, it was announced by President Vic Rowland of the Associated Students.

The action brought about by the request of Rowland is the outcome of a drive on the part of El Don, college weekly, to have the signals erected at the busy intersection. Approval of the move was granted by the executive board.

In announcing the campaign, President Rowland cited the need for some means of handling the traffic at the corner where hundreds of college students cross daily. "Many students have found themselves in the embarrassing predicament of walking into the safety zone only to find that the approaching cars do not stop."

At present the intersection has a safety lane which is watched over by a crossing guard. This way, it was indicated, has not proved to be totally satisfactory.

Members of the executive board were given the petitions today to circulate among students and faculty which will in turn be presented to the city council for action. The difficulty, it was pointed out, in the authorization of the erection of signals, is that permission must be obtained from state highway authorities.

In a front page editorial two weeks ago, the college weekly urged that signals be installed, and pointed out the necessity for their erection. The following week, President Rowland issued a statement favoring the taking of definite steps in the matter.

Thus far student opinion on the campus favors the signals, and indications point to the fulfillment of getting many signatures on the petitions.

Christian Science

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all churches of Christ, Science branches of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

A Bible selection in the Lesson-Sermon included these verses from John: "These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee: . . . I have manifested thy name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world; thine they were, and thou gavest them me; and they have kept thy word. . . . And now I am no more in the world, and I come to thee, Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are. . . . And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one." One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit, the law of divine Love."

WRITING —TO SELL—

By ETHEL K. LOCKWOOD

Beginners' scripts recently in my hands convince me more strongly than ever of one thing: We are too eager to WRITE before we are ready. The beginner who is starting work on a short story for the first time should write a plot outline, and check carefully, preferably with someone who knows plot, before he wastes time at the typewriter.

Scores of beginners would make the grade and sell without a great deal of difficulty, if they would write out a synopsis of the plot they plan to use, and check it to see whether or not it is really worth using.

Beginning "Duck Soup"
It is easy enough to visualize two or three characters, and work up an opening situation, but it is the END of the story you should be concerned about. Does it have a different twist? You can't expect to have an entirely new plot, but you must have a different way of handling it, or it will not be worth monkeying with.

Thomas Uzzell has a special grudge against the "come to realize" plot. The writer who starts a story and then lets his lead "come to realize" the error of his ways, is a lazy-minded no-account who doesn't deserve to get anywhere, according to Mr. Uzzell. He is not far wrong.

When you have your characters tangled up in the opening situation, you should not think of "what WOULD happen," but "what COULD happen." There is a vast difference. The thing that would ordinarily happen in real life, will be too stale and trite for fiction. You need to work out an imaginary ending that COULD happen; something that would be different, yet highly satisfactory to the average reader.

Playing the Gallery
Remember, we do not write for the selected few, if we are wise, but for the great mass of "folks" like ourselves, who are pretty tired when evening comes, and who want to be entertained. No reader is going to be entertained by a stale plot, no matter how beautifully it is written. There MUST be something different about the story, or some sort of emotional response.

We do not get our educational reading out of short stories. Their mission is entertainment. We read short stories for emotion response, believe it or not.

We would not get much of a thrill out of going to a friend's to dinner if our hostess served exactly the same kind of food we had been eating each day. It's that "something different"—or the hope of it—that intrigues us. We may not recognize this urge in so many words, but it is there just the same. And if we do not have different food, we must have it SERVED differently.

Keep this thought in mind when you are plotting a story. It may be the same old food, but it must be served differently.

COUNTY STARS IN RADIO TESTS MONDAY NIGHT

The Saxophone Quintet, composed of Allen Dale Twigg, Chuck Borland, Les Rankin, Bill Huds-peth and Stan Logsdon, Orange county's entrant in the semi-finals of the "California's Hour" open talent tournament, will face arduous competition next Monday night when they renew their bid for radio fame and the $500 grand prize awaiting the tournament winner.

The saxophone quintet from Orange county will compete with a guitarist, three tenors, a coloratura soprano, an accordionist and a Redwood City housewife who plays tunes on water glasses. In addition to these, there will be the winner from Oakland and Alameda county, not yet announced.

The nine contestants will vie for prizes of $100 each and bids to the final competition, which will be awarded the two receiving the largest number of votes from radio listeners following the performance.

In addition to the Orange county semi-finalists, there will be: Hollywood and Beverly Hills—Nicholas Angelo, tenor; San Joaquin county—Carroll Austin, tenor; Tulare county—Yeda Murphy, guitarist; Pomona and Ontario—Hollace Shaw, coloratura soprano; Kern county—Lloyd Combs, better known as "Little Mac," tenor; San Mateo county—Mrs. Mae Walford, who plays the "Hydrodaktulopsychicharmonica;" Ventura—Frank Umbrö, accordionist, and the winner of the Oakland and Alameda county salute broadcast last Monday night (October 19), not yet announced.

LONDON TASTES STREET FIGHTING

Blocked by barricades reminiscent of Paris rioting, London streets were scenes of wild disorder when 5000 British Fascists attempted to stage a parade and demonstration. Sixty-four persons were badly injured and 204 suffered lesser hurts before police forced Sir Oswald Mosley, organizer of the British Union of Fascists, to abandon the parade. The photograph below shows police removing a truck, overturned to form part of a barricade.

REQUEST HELP IN SECURING FILM 'EXTRAS'

Co-operation of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce in securing "atmosphere extras" for motion pictures made in Santa Ana and vicinity—if and when films are made in Santa Ana and vicinity—was sought today in a letter from the Central Casting Corporation of Hollywood.

In a letter signed by Campbell MacCulloch the chamber of commerce was asked to co-operate with the bureau when films were made in Santa Ana. MacCulloch said that frequently the picture companies come to Orange county on location and would employ local people, particularly girls, as extras if they were available. He said that in the future he would notify the chamber of the number of girls required and requested that names be available.

The rate of pay—if and when pictures are taken in Santa Ana—will be $3.20 per day with extra pay for overtime.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Close Friends
Are Assembled
For "At Home"

Although few of his generation and friends of many years' standing no longer live in Santa Ana or its vicinity, Frank Remus has gathered a number of his old friends and relatives yesterday when he reached the 81st milestone on his journey through life.

"Open house" was maintained at the Remus home, 2703 Victoria Drive, Laguna Beach, to which the family moved a year ago from the 725 South Main street home which Mr. Remus himself built in 1886. There were many reminiscences yesterday, for having come to Santa Ana in 1886, the birthday celebrant has seen the city grow from a village.

Born October 14, 1855 in Piqua, Ohio, the son of Erasmus and Susan Jane Remus, Frank Remus came to this city as a carpenter under contract to William McClain of Dayton, Ohio, to build the Fairview hotel and seven South Santa Ana houses. The majority of these have given way to the city's growth, the only one remaining being the old Griffith place, now owned by Charles Borchard.

When the building boom collapsed, Mr. Remus opened a carriage shop on East Fourth street next to what is now the Princess theater. One of his amusing reminiscences is of the time when a strong Santa Ana breeze down the tall false front of this shop, and East Fourth street men held the carpentry to place with long poles while he nailed it tight.

Mr. and Mrs. Remus eloped when Mrs. Remus was yet a student at Shepherdson college in Ohio, and went to Tennessee to be married on June 2, 1874. Mr. Remus had graduated from a business college in Piqua. Of their two sons, Forrest and Pearl, and their two daughters, Hazel and Faria, only Miss Hazel Nell Remus is living, and is a member of Polytechnic high school faculty.

Known to everyone in this city and in Laguna Beach as "Dad," Mr. Remus is everyone's friend, and every animal's friend. He loves fishing, and many of these sunset days of life are devoted to the sport from which his friends enjoy the rewards.

Among those calling yesterday were Messrs. and Mesdames Ed J. Miller, Otto Schroeder, Seldon Weston, Fred Triplett, Plummer W. Bruns, Miss Virginia Bruns, Mrs. Samuel Nau, Mrs. Mary Kingsbury of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Nell Cameron of Pasadena.

He will talk on his musical experiences, and study and research work in England this summer.

Accompanying the well known musician to this city will be one of his prominent soloists, who will provide a short program during the evening.

Musical Arts club members will open the meeting to all singers, choir directors and other musicians interested in meeting Mr. Smallman. It was through the efforts of Holly Lash Visel, program chairman for the evening, that such an outstanding program has been arranged.

Dinner Guests Present
Farewell Gift to
Mrs. Bolton

When Mr. and Mrs. Claude M. Bolton left Friday for a motor trip through California and southern Oregon, they carried with them happy memories of a farewell affair engineered by Mrs. Bolton's fellow members of the Walker theater staff.

"Partying between shows," so to speak, the group had arranged a steak dinner as a special farewell courtesy to Mrs. Bolton, who has resigned after half a dozen years of service at the ticket window of Walker's State theater. She transferred to the new Walker theater after its recent opening, but her familiar face will no longer greet the patrons.

This farewell dinner in her honor was staged at the Green Cat cafe, where covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Cole, Miss Gladys Marguerite and Darrell Johnson. Before the merry party broke up, the guests presented Mrs. Bolton with a handsome electric clock.

The Bolton will visit various points of interest on their northern trip, after a few days' visit in Stockton. They will return after two weeks and Mr. Bolton will resume his post with the Bastanchury Water company.

Past Matrons Honor
State Officer

Although all meetings of Hermosa Past Matrons' association are of interest to the members, that of last week when four hostesses received at a luncheon in Masonic temple was outstanding, because it complimented Mrs. James Tarpley, a member who is just approaching the close of her year as deputy grand worthy matron.

Mesdames Jacob Bohlander, S. A. Moore, J. R. Medlock and F. D. Drake had planned the party features as a surprise to their hostess, the season beautifully. Pomegranates, persimmons, pine cones and gourds were twined with sprays of autumn leaves and evergreen which Mrs. Moore had brought from the mountains.

Mrs. Tarpley, accorded special place at the guest table, found a flower corsage at her plate. Later she was amazed to receive a prettily decorated basket overflowing with handkerchiefs and other gifts. Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell, association president, made the presentation on behalf of all the members, at the same time giving an appreciative talk on what Mrs. Tarpley has accomplished and what she means to her sister Past Matrons.

To complete the intimacy of this interval, Mrs. J. P. Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Charles G. Wallis, sang "In My Garden," written for the occasion, and "The End of a Perfect Day," substituting the word "year" for day. In the lounge where the remainder of the afternoon was spent, Mrs. Mitchell led a short business meeting which included "The Perfect Prayer" repeated in unison, and birthday observances. Mesdames so honored were Mesdames Mitchell, P. L. Tope, Jennie Peck, W. D. Barker, Blanche Hansen and C. D. Benight. Vacation experiences comprised the remainder of the program.

Miss Henrietta Bohling, Hermosa worthy matron, was a guest and association members present with the four hostesses, and with their honoree, Mrs. Tarpley, were Mesdames W. A. Atkinson, J. C. Burke, Thomas Brooks, F. C. Cloyes, E. S. Dunphy, John A. Harvey, Dr. Ad. K. Henery, M. M. Holmes, H. T. Jones, J. F. Jacoby, J. W. McCormac, C. F. Mitchell, George Osterman, Arthur H. Little Guests Enjoy
Birthday Party

Master Bobbie Long's third birthday anniversary was accorded happy observance Friday afternoon when his mother, Mrs. R. A. Long, entertained a group of her small son's playmates with their mothers in the Long home, 1216 West First street.

There were various games but probably the merriest was the candy hunt staged on the lawn. Later the children were grouped around a prettily decorated table to enjoy Bobbie's birthday cake with its three candles, and the ice cream and other "goodies" served by his mother.

Many gift packages were brought for the little birthday lad from his guests who were Ronald Sands, Raymond Simpson Jr., Rita Maher, Ronald Maher, Jerry Hays, Arlene Allender, Freddie Stone, Gerald Fuller and Rosalie Rose. Mothers who shared the afternoon's pleasure with Mrs. Long were Mrs. O. A. Sands, Mrs. R. G. Simpson, Mrs. Richard Maher, Mrs. Lester Allender and Mrs. Hazel Fuller.

Miss Lois Lamb Is Bride
At Pretty Church Rites

Wearing a lovely costume in ivory tones, with a veil which was fashioned in England 150 years ago, Miss Lois Effie Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo J. Lamb, 530 South Sycamore street, became the bride of George Alfred Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Winter, 1724 Valencia street, Sunday afternoon in First Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. James H. Sewell, of the Church of Christ, officiated.

Relatives and friends of the couple from various Southland points assembled for the rites, which occurred in the auditorium at 4 o'clock. Cathedral tapers gleaming from branched candelabra lighted the altar, which presented a charming autumn setting with its tall baskets of pompon and china chrysanthemums, gladioli and other blossoms in the rich shades of the season.

Fred German sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Halstead McCormack, who played "At Dawning." "Always" and other selections in addition to the wedding marches.

The bride's sister, Miss Alice Lamb, a student at Santa Barbara State college, was maid of honor. She wore shimmering green satin with a bouquet of yellow roses whose tones were repeated in the fillet of blossoms in her hair.

Other attendants were Miss Helen Demetriou, in ashes of roses taffeta; Miss Ruth Cummings, in roses taffeta and Mrs. Dean Borchard, in rust taffeta. Each carried a bouquet of orchid china mums to match a fillet of smaller blossoms in her hair.

Ralph Gordon was best man. The bridegroom's brother, William Winter, Paul Soest, Richard Soest and James Daneri were ushers.

Relatives and close friends of the two families were brought to the reception in the Lamb home, where many flowers were used in decorating. Especially lovely was an arrangement of yellow and bronze flowers in which blue blossoms were intermingled. The bride's attendants, joined by Miss Mildred Kinney of Fullerton, assisted in serving.

The bride cut the first slice in the tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Punch and coffee were served with the cake.

Mrs. Lamb was gown in admiral blue chiffon velvet with a velvet hat, matching accessories and a shoulder spray of gardenias. Mrs. Winter was in duobonnet chiffon velvet with gardenias across the front neckline.

Mr. and Mrs. Winter left for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco, the bride attired in a steel grey frock trimmed in fur, with accessories in egg plant shade. Mrs. Wilson
Will Direct
Junior Clubs

That junior clubwomen of the Southern District chose their new year's president from Santa Ana, was the gratifying result brought home by Ebbs Juniors from the conclave in Fontana at which they spent the week-end. Choice of Mrs. Russell Wilson (Ninette Rowland) as the new president, seems to carry the club traditions of this prominent Santa Ana family just another step forward.

For Mrs. Wilson is the daughter of Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, president of Santa Ana Ebbs society, and the granddaughter of Mrs. C. F. Crose, a past president of Ebbs society and past president of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs.

Santa Ana guests at the conclave returned bubbling over with enthusiasm both for the promise of the year to come under Mrs. Wilson's presidency, and for the genial hospitality of Fontana city, which turned out en masse to second the friendliness of their junior clubwomen.

Representing Ebbs groups from this city were Mrs. Emrys D. White, state chairman of juniors; Mrs. Rowland, Ebbs president; Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Junior Ebbs president; Mrs. R. C. Harris, Orange county adviser; Mrs. Wilson, district vice president; Mesdames Thornburn White, Lee Smith, Albert Harvey, Charles McDaniel Jr., Raymond Terry, Charles Webb, Arthur Wade, Miss Sada Mae McCauley, and two members of Girls' Ebbs, the Misses Betty Timmons and Eleanor Cogan.

Santa Ana also furnished the principal speaker on the Saturday afternoon program in the person of Calvin Flint of the junior college faculty. County club groups provided the evening program, and Orange county was represented by Rose Marie Flint, violinist; Mary Bruner Ferrey, pianist, and Lois Rees Auer, reader.

District and state officers in the general federation were present to express interest in the work of the juniors, and share the fine programs. They shared too the hospitality of Fontana, which was evidenced by the general attendance at programs open to the public, and by the wholehearted hospitality shown in planning tours to the community's industries and various stock ranches, including rabbits and poultry.

In election whereby Mrs. Wilson succeeded Miss Eleanor Wilson of San Diego in the presidency, officers elected with her were Miss Anna Hucksby of Hemet, and Mrs. Betty Gene Matthews of San Diego, first and second vice presidents, and Miss Florence Backs of Anaheim, secretary-treasurer.

Local Couple
Motor North
For Nuptials

Motoring to Santa Barbara for their wedding, Miss Stella Mary Jackson, daughter of Thomas W. Jackson, 217 East Broadway, Anaheim, and T. Hume West, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. West, 2171 Victoria drive, exchanged vows at a quiet ceremony Saturday in All Saints' Episcopal church of that city.

They were accompanied to Santa Barbara by close friends, Miss Ann Tarver and Tevis Westgate, of this city, who were the only attendants at the rites. The Rev. John De Forest Pettus officiated.

The bride wore a pine tree green costume with brown accessories. Orchids from the rare plant gardens of the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Brastad, of Anaheim, formed Miss Jackson's corsage bouquet, in accordance with a custom which started a few years ago when the Brastads presented a similar corsage to one of the first brides in a close circle of friends whose associations date back to early school days. The bride's sister, Mrs. Frank L. Humphrey, of Los Angeles, is among those to have shared this traditional compliment.

Miss Tarver was attired in a black and white costume with a corsage cluster of gardenias. Following the ceremony, the four young people returned to Los Angeles, where they enjoyed a wedding dinner at the Biltmore hotel. The bridal couple continued to La Quinta, near Palm Springs, where they will spend their honeymoon in

Bridge Party Guests
Shower Many Gifts
On Bride Elect

Coming from her studies at U. C. L. A., Miss Helen Leikhus, as a weekend visitor in her Anaheim home, took opportunity yesterday to entertain in compliment to Miss Ella Plets, fiancée of George Berenson.

Close friends of hostess and honoree were bidden to a bridge tea and shower, staged in the Doris Kathryn where a clever black and white decorative effect was worked out by the hostess. This was in evidence at the refreshment hour when peanut brittle ice cream, cake and coffee were served at tables spread with lace doilies over black.

Miss Jeannette Leikhus and Mrs. Thomas Wylie made first and second high scores in bridge and received pretty gifts. Presentation of the shower presents followed the refreshment hour, when Miss Plets had the privilege of opening a collection of ribbon-tied boxes in which she found a complete service for six of the Poppy Trail pattern in pottery.

Miss Leikhus was accompanied by her mother at U. C. L. A., Miss Sarah Tom, and her invitation list included also her sister, Miss Jeannette Leikhus, with the Misses Mary Eudaly and Gloria Hunt, Hollywood; Esther Janssen, Fullerton; Helen Demetriou, Ruth Cummings, Marian Shale, Louise Comito, Marguerite Hardin, Doris Kittle, Marjorie Berkner, Ann Detweller, Alma McClain, Virginia Golden, Alice Lamb, Lois Lamb, Dorothy Heiny, Ruby White, Mesdames Evelyn Wilson, Joseph Webber Allen Carstensen, Santa Ana; Edgar Elmer, Garden Grove; Josephine Jordan, Silverado canyon; Mrs. Blake Montague, San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. Paul Danforth, Mrs. Jack Tinch, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Carl Bohlen, Doheny Park; Mrs. Harold Watson, Mrs. Thomas Wylie, Huntington Beach.

Many Guests Welcomed
To Reception

Open house in the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Ruley, 910 North Flower street Sunday evening between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock meant just one thing, it signified that the hosts were making a compliment to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lowell, whose marriage was an event of this season.

Seventy-five friends of the Lowell and Ruley families were welcomed to the affair, and given this opportunity to greet the newly-married couple. Mrs. Lowell formerly was Miss Judith Ruley. She was attended charmingly in a formal gown of yellow net over turquoise blue tulle, with a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Ruley wore turquoise blue lace with yellow costume flowers.

The affair took place in the soft glow of many tapers, arranged throughout the living room and in the dining room as well. Complementing the effective setting were baskets of chrysanthemums and dahlias in rich fall tones, arranged against a background of ferns.

Cake, coffee and other dainties were served from a lace-spread table at which Mrs. Ethel K. Lockwood presided. Assisting her was Mrs. William McGimpsey of Fullerton.

It was Miss Emma Fowler's pleasant duty to preside over the guest book, which was signed by guests from San Diego, Los Angeles, Riverside, Santa Ana and other Southern points.

MEN LOVE
PEPPY GIRLS
You can become peppy
this easy way

If you are happy and peppy and full of fun, men will take you places. If you are lively, they will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT, if you are cross and lifeless and always tired out, men won't be interested in you. Men don't like "quiet" girls. Men go to parties to enjoy themselves. They want girls along who are full of pep.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND helps give you pep and energy. For over sixty years girls and women have been taking this famous old medicine to pep them up, to help give them strength, energy, sparkle. Notice the girls and women about you who are full of pep. Ask them what makes them peppy. If they are honest, many of them will give the credit to LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. You should give LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND a try. Girls with pep are more attractive to men.

Brain Twizzlers

A prospector was lost in the desert for two days and nights. Towards the end of the second day he became exhausted from the heat and lost part of his consciousness and as a result lost all record of time. When he was found by a party of men who happened his way he responded to treatment readily and soon was thoroughly recovered. His first question was, "What day of the week is it?" One of the men, a practical joker, replied "when the day after tomorrow is yesterday, today will be as far from Tuesday as today was from Tuesday when the day before yesterday was tomorrow." Could you have told the prospector what day it was?

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

MODERN EDUCATOR 9300 YEAR AGO

THE concept method of teaching, nowadays, is nothing new, after all. For 300 years ago, Johann Amos Comenius, famous Bohemian writer and educator, and last bishop of the Moravian and Bohemian Brethren, first expounded the idea of using pictures and objects for teaching the meaning of words, and of teaching a language by means of topical conversation. Comenius was more familiarly known as Komensky. He was born in 1592, in Moravia. After considerable study and travel, he began to teach school there. He wrote numerous works on education and these were translated into 15 languages. His revolutionary method of teaching languages won him such fame in other countries that Sweden had him organize its school system. He died in 1670, at the age of 78.

Czechoslovakia, recently honored Komensky by placing his portrait on one of its stamps. It is shown here.

SCIENCE, Turning Fable into Fact, PRODUCES a real UNICORN

Monarch of all he surveys—the young bull who, turned into a unicorn, has much more fighting power than his two-horned contemporaries.

By Dr. Frank Thone

UNICORNS are no longer creatures of myth and fable. Science, which has been the death of so many once-credited myths, has reversed its time-honored role, and has produced a real, live, breathing animal with a horn in the middle of its forehead.

And to make the story even better, this modern unicorn lives in the state of Maine, usually thought of as headquarters for commonsense, hard-headed skepticism. He was produced by a biologist at the University of Maine, Dr. W. Franklin Dove. Dr. Dove published the first account of his one-horned wonder in The Scientific Monthly.

The unicorn is a real wonder, all right, but the wonder lies more in the methods of modern surgery that made him possible than in the animal himself. For his one horn was made out of the beginnings of two horns, transplanted from the corners of his head to the center-line of his brow, through the use of the same kind of surgical methods that transplant fingers to replace missing noses, or make new jaws out of pieces of ribs.

To understand the horn of a unicorn, and how it can be made, it is necessary first to take a brief look at horns in general, and how they grow. Calves, kids, lambs and other horned animals are of course born hornless. But at each corner of the forehead there is a little round knot of growing tissue, loosely attached to the bone but not really a part of it. These bits of growing tissue are known as the horn buds.

As the animal grows, the horn buds develop. They grow fast to the skull underneath, and finally seem to be altogether parts of it. On their outer sides they build up into solid bony cones, called the horn cores.

All horned animals except the deer family, which shed their horns each year, have these horn cores. Over them the true horn develops, growing like hair or fingernails, and indeed formed of much the same kind of material.

The two horn buds therefore are the determining factor in horn formation. Where they are, the horns grow. If they can be transplanted, the horns will grow somewhere else.

IT was this knowledge and reasoning that moved Dr. Dove, when he decided to see whether he couldn't make a unicorn.

He chose a bull calf of the Ayrshire breed, only a day old. By careful surgical methods he cut the young animal's horn buds loose, leaving attached to each one a strip of skin and supporting tissues, to insure blood supply until the transplanted tissues should have made themselves fast in their new location. He trimmed a piece off the edge of each, to make the flat sides fit closely together. Then he set them edge to edge at the center line of the calf's forehead.

He made his transplant deep, right on the bone itself and under the growing sheath of protective and nutrient tissue which scientists call the periosteum. Then he put on a surgical bandage, and awaited results.

As he expected, the two transplanted horn buds grew fast to each other and to the skull, forming a single large horn core. The horn that developed, as the young bull's days increased, was much thicker and heavier than either member of the usual pair of horns—a massive, formidable weapon. Now, at the age of about two and one-half years, the young unicorn bull strides the pastures in his pride, undisputed master of the herd.

The change in his head-armor has made a difference in his style of fighting, Dr. Dove reports. Most bulls charge at an enemy and then slash to one side or the other, using only one of their pair of horns. But the unicorn goes into action head-on, using his single weapon like a knight's lance. It is a far more effective mode of combat, apparently, and certainly is very disconcerting to any rival bull.

Dr. Dove has conjectured about the possi-

The one-horned wonder of mythology now has its counterpart in a snorting Ayrshire bull whose two-horn buds were successfully grafted into one by a University of Maine biologist

Any fair maid could tame a unicorn, according to the medieval legends. Here is an old print showing how the trick was done.

most any part of Africa outside of Egypt. And two modern writers, one a Frenchman in 1796, the other an Englishman in 1924, describe "unicorn-making" by African tribes. Dr. Dove also adds a note on "multicorn-making" in sheep by natives of the Himalayan state of Nepal.

The alleged African practice of making unicorns out of bulls is declared to be for the purpose of "marking the herd leaders." With this rationalization Dr. Dove partly disagrees.

Changing the horns of a bull into a single horn would certainly mark the animal all right, he agrees. But from his experience with his own a "unicorn" to God. As Dr. Dove interprets this legend, it may well signify that Adam offered up absolutely the most valuable thing he possessed, the finest sire in his herd.

About the application of the unicorn concept to Old Testament references there is bound to be some dispute, for the original Hebrew word that is translated "unicorn" in the King James version is rendered as "rhinoceros" in the Douay version, and as "wild ox" in the Revised version.

Apparently the Catholics at Douai, in the early 17th century, and the American Protestants in the late 19th, were more skeptical about unicorns than were the English bishops on King James' biblical commission. But at least there is room for interesting speculation on this point.

Unicorn lore and legend were rife not only in ancient and medieval times, but had an especial vogue in early modern centuries, which were given to priding themselves on their greater enlightenment. Because a unicorn's horn was supposed to have miraculous poison-dispelling powers, it was much in demand during the "arsenic cocktail" Age of the Renaissance. Queen Elizabeth had a "little cuppe of Unicorn's horne," which she prized highly and which her successor, James I, presented to his wife as an exceedingly great treasure.

PIECES of horn that were purported to be unicorn's were listed above jewels and gold, in the inventories of the great houses of that time. A whole unicorn horn was a prize worth a city's ransom.

Later, cold-blooded zoologists looked over these precious objects, and found them all to be the twisted nose-horns of the narwhal, a smaller relative of the whales which carries a lance on its nose. But zoological knowledge was one of the least of the troubles of James I, who incidentally was a staunch believer in the existence of witches.

That same monarch was indirectly responsible for the nursery rhyme about the Lion and the Unicorn, a-fighting for the Crown. While Queen Elizabeth was still reigning, he succeeded to the throne of Scotland, as James VI of Scotland. When Elizabeth died, he was next in line for the rulership of England also, where he became James I.

The royal arms of Scotland at that time had as "supporters" a pair of silver unicorns. To symbolize the union of Scotland and England, after many years of war, James dislodged one of the twin lions from the English royal arms and substituted one of his own unicorns.

The line about "fighting for the Crown" might well have signified a fight of the lion against the unicorn, as it still does in all children's minds (children love violence!), if we set the date before the union of the two kingdoms. But since then the two have been fighting side by side, fighting "for" the Crown, as we say men fight "for" their country.

But that is a subtlety beyond the minds of the innocent little savages in the nursery. As far as they are concerned, the lion fights against the unicorn.

Most of them, probably, have a mental bet up on the Unicorn.

A close-up of the Maine "unicorn" with his one powerful horn. At right, the animal as a calf, showing how the incisions healed up after the horns were transplanted.

bility of producing one-horned fighting bulls, for the immemorial sport of Spain. Such animals would certainly introduce a note of novelty into the bullring, and might make doubly significant the warning in the operative favorite, "Toreador, be wary!"

However, since bull-fighting is a ritual as well as a sport, and therefore a very conservative institution, there might be considerable popular opposition to the introduction of an unorthodox pattern of bull.

There might be a lack of interest in the combat on the unicorn-bull's part, too; for Dr. Dove says that his animal, confident in his strength and superior armament, does very little fighting, and is quite docile. This would fit in with old-time notions about the legendary unicorn, which was universally declared to be both proud and gentle. The belief arose that though the unicorn could defy all hunters, yet if a young virgin went into his pasture and sat down, he would come presently and lay his head in her lap so that he could then be taken captive.

DR. DOVE is not at all convinced that all previously reported unicorns were legendary and non-existent. He has combed the literature (which is most voluminous and polyglot), and thinks it quite likely that earlier peoples knew his horn-transplantation trick and practiced it commonly, with goats and sheep as well as cattle.

Persistent reports from many lands, ranging from classic antiquity down to modern times, indicate that herdsmen and shepherds have done things to the horns of their animals. Dr. Dove quotes a passage from Pliny, the noted Roman naturalist who lived during the first century A. D., which says in effect that certain shepherds "cut and twisted the horns (of their sheep) so that four grew on a single head." Following this lead, the Maine biologist several years ago produced a six-horned goat—unfortunately now departed this life.

Pliny also records the practice, in Africa, of "bending the horns" of cattle, and causing the tips to grow together, to produce a single central horn. One of the homes of the unicorn in medieval legend, significantly enough, was "Ethiopia"—which at that time meant al-unicorn, he thinks the matter goes deeper. A one-horned animal is so well equipped to assert and maintain leadership that he just naturally becomes the leader, regardless of "markings."

DR. DOVE is also inclined to think that "unicorn-making" might have been known to the pastoral Israelites of early Old Testament times.

The unicorn is mentioned many times in the Bible, and always in terms of highest respect and laudation. Indeed, the first reference, in the Book of Numbers, likens the unicorn even to God himself. Balaam, the heathen prophet who ran full tilt into the power of Jehovah, and of course got the worst of it, reported back to his king: "He hath as it were the strength of an unicorn!"

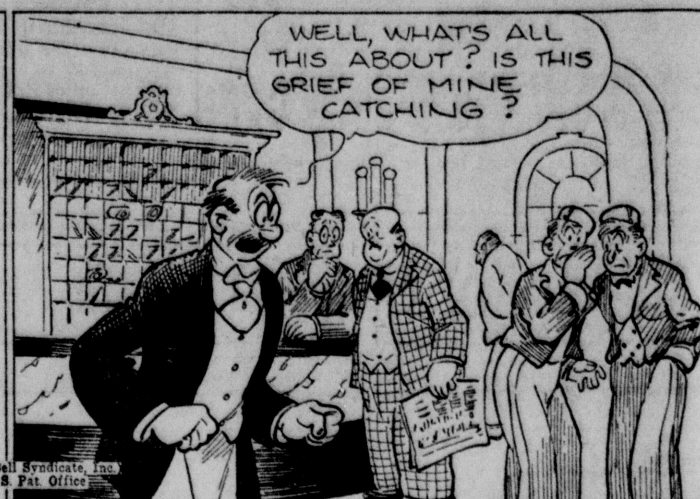

There is another story, not in the Bible but in the Jewish Talmud, about Adam sacrificing
